New Energy Bureau Proposed

STUDDS MOVES TO GET FACTS ON ENERGY CRISIS

WASHINGTON, D.C., JANUARY 23 -- Rep. Gerry E. Studds, D-Mass., today introduced legislation "to force the major oil companies to disclose -- to a new Bureau of Energy Information -- all the information we need to determine the severity of the present energy crisis and what our long term energy needs will be.

"It is incredible that we in the Congress have had to rely on the few bits and pieces of information the major oil producing companies have condescended to release to us. We simply do not have the information we need to know to determine if, in fact, the energy crisis does exist or if our present problems of low supply and high cost have been manufactured by the petroleum industry," Studds said.

"During the holiday recess at home I was repeatedly asked: 'Does the energy crisis really exist?'

"I could not answer -- nor could any other Member of Congress -- because no one anywhere in the Federal Government has the basic data necessary to make such a determination. We are told there is an emergency -- we are asked to make major decisions on that assumption -- and yet we do not know with any precision the nature or magnitude of the emergency.

"I promised my constituents that I would move promptly to try to get the answers to these questions when I returned to Washington.

"Basically, this bill creates a permanent Bureau of Energy Information located within the Department of Commerce to consolidate the energy information-gathering functions now scattered over some 64 departments and agencies.

"The proposed legislation would empower the new Bureau to obtain information from both government and private sources -- with verification of all information supplied by private industry," Studds continued.

"By combining all energy data under an independent Bureau of Energy Information we no longer will be at the mercy of the major energy producing corporations and should be able to meet our present energy needs while establishing a sound national energy policy plan for our future energy requirements.

"If legislation similar to this bill had been enacted a decade ago, so that official statistics on the status of our energy resources were available to the American people and the Congress, the present crisis might well have been avoided. At the very least, we would have been better able to understand the present situation and, consequently, to act intelligently."

"Meet Charles Dickens"

"Meet Charles Dickens", a one-man show with Phillip Van Kroopf, is the next free presentation for the public of Southeastern Massachusetts University's Cultural Enrichment Series on Wednesday, February 6, at 8:30 P.M. in the SMU Auditorium.

Phillip Von Kroopf has been acting since he was a child; first in films in Hollywood, later on both coasts in TV, on stage and in his own radio shows. Recent state appearances include Joseph Papp's Shakespeare Festival and Lincoln Center, where he played such roles as King Lear, Falstaff, Goethe's Faust, etc.

Mr. Von Kroopf has performed "Meet Charles Dickens" at New York's Royal Playhouse, Lincoln Center and Carnegie Hall. Excerpts have been aired on TV in New York, Los Angeles and Philadelphia and heard around the world over Armed Forces Network. The two acts span the many years between Charles Dickens' first public reading and his last appearance, when he toured England and America. In it he becomes the characters from his novels - old Scrooge, young David Copperfield, the hilarious Sairey Gamp, Sidney Carton, Aunt Betsey Trotwood, the merry Pickwickians, etc. In Mr. Von Kroopf's portrayal of Dickens himself, we find a man of great humor and vanity, yet concerned and involved with the problems of his times. What Charles Dickens had to say to the people of the nineteenth century is surprisingly relevant to us today.

Operating Cost per Pupil

Figures released by the Herald-Traveler of a statewide poll of high schools show a wide range of difference because some figures contain capital costs and others did not. Old Rochester School Committee member Mrs. Kathy Lynch has furnished the following figures to show comparative costs of schools nearby or of similar size. Vocational schools which are included in the state average are always greater than regular high schools and therefore tend to make the average higher than would be the case if they had not been included The following figures are operating figures and do not include capital cost figures.

Assistant to the editor of the New Bedford Standard-Times, Allen spent two years researching his subject and will concentrate in his address on the confrontation of the cultures of the Alaskan Eskimo and Yankee Quaker brought to a head by the tremendous ice crunch that forced the abandonment of 32 whaling ships by 1,200 people in the frozen arctic region.

The destinies of these two peoples separated by thousands of miles were joined in the relentless pursuit of a single valuable resource -- the bowhead whale.

Allen also has authored "The Quiet Place: A Cape Cod Chronicle" and "Arctic Odyssey", a biography of the late Arctic explorer, Donald B. MacMillan.

Allen will allow time for questions and answers following his presentation, and members of the Historical Society's board of directors will serve tea afterward in the Carriage House.

licensed business in an improper manner which permitted disorders and disturbances to take place.

Selectmen advised the Spinnaker that they are concerned to learn that the manager is not regularly on the premises. They want closer supervision which they feel will lead to improvement of the operation. Selectmen ordered that all advertising matter, screens, curtains and other obstruction be removed to allow a clear view of the interior.

SUNDAY LICENSE GRANTED

Harbor Beach Restaurant and King of the Road were granted Sunday entertainment licenses by the Massachusetts Department of Public Safety.

HOSPITAL MAY BE KEPT

In a January 16th letter, Frank C. Belitoky, Director of the Massachusetts Civil Defense Agency, advised Selectmen Donald Linhares that he had checked with Public Health advisors who have no objection to Mattapoisett Civil Defense people storing the 200 bed PDH hospital in more than one location providing proper safeguards and security are maintained. Selectmen will now meet with Civil Defense Director to discuss storage space. The hospital is presently located in Center School and the space it occupies in the basement is needed for educational purposes.

lance and police equipment. This eases the minds of local officials who have been concerned with the need to keep emergency and public safety equipment operating on a normal basis.

The State has also lifted the requirement for competitive bids on energy materials during the energy crisis.

FLOOD INSURANCE

According to figures furnished by the Massachusetts Civil Defense Agency, 271 Mattapoisett homeowners have purchased flood insurance with a total value of $4,154,000. The town has one of the highest percentages of this type of insurance in the state.

President Nixon has signed new legislation PL 93-234. This law stipulates that if within 6 months of enactment, a community does not challenge (by July, 1975), Federal assistance (except Revenue Sharing) will not be available within flood prone areas and, within 60 days of enactment, no Federal assistance for purchase or construction of buildings will be approved in areas of flood hazard unless covered by flood insurance.

SOURCE OF POLLUTION

John C. Collins of the Massachusetts Department of Public Health has advised that a survey of the Leisure Shore area by his department has located a source of pollution. He requested abatement of that source of pollution or else will close the area for shellfishing.

The area in question is at present and has for some time been closed to shellfishing due to action by local officials.

OLD COLONY TENTATIVE BUDGET

The Board of Selectmen has received a tentative operating budget from John T. Oliveira, Superintendent and Director of the Old Colony Regional Vocational Technical High School District.

Atherosclerosis: Where Does it Begin?

(This is the first of a series of three articles presented during Heart Fund Month to inform readers of this newspaper about the latest advances in combating heart and blood vessel diseases.)

Atherosclerosis, commonly called "hardening of the arteries," is a major cause of heart attack and stroke. It's progressive. It can begin early in life.

Although usually irreversible, there is evidence that the disease can be slowed by eating foods low in saturated fats and cholesterol, and by controlling high blood pressure.

Dr. Richard S. Ross, president of the American Heart Association, explains how it develops:

"Over the years, cholesterol, saturated fats, and other debris carried in the bloodstream collect along the walls of the blood vessels. The arteries become thick and lose their ability to expand and contract. As this build-up on the walls becomes heavier, the artery channels narrow and sometimes close altogether, making it easy for a clot to form. When the flow of blood and oxygen needed to keep the heart and brain functioning properly is blocked, a heart attack or stroke can result."

Although atherosclerosis has long been considered a "disease of aging," Dr. Ross cites these facts:

- Doctors performing autopsies on children killed in accidents, or who died from other causes, found streaks of fat in arteries as early as age three.
- Autopsies on soldiers killed during the Korean War showed hardening of the arteries in some men in their early 20's and 30's.

He notes that these findings are evidence that atherosclerosis – and the heart attack, stroke and other cardiovascular killers to which it contributes – are diseases that can begin early in life.

A diet high in fat and cholesterol leads to a high blood cholesterol level and to an accumulation of deposits within the blood vessels. Dr. Ross says studies confirm that high blood cholesterol is associated with the increased risk of heart attack and stroke. Eating foods low in fat and cholesterol can lower the level of cholesterol in the blood and reduce the risk of these two killers. Cholesterol levels can also be lowered by treatment with drugs when necessary.

Another factor contributing to the two major killers—heart attack and stroke—is high blood pressure (hypertension). This, too, may begin earlier than doctors once believed.

"When atherosclerosis and high blood pressure are combined," Dr. Ross warns, "the risk is even greater, since the presence of both often results in cerebral hemorrhage, a form of stroke."

The Director of the Cardiovascular Division of the Department of Medicine at Johns Hopkins Hospital Baltimore, points out that high blood pressure, once thought to be present only in adults, is now showing up in small children and teenagers.

"Pediatricians," he says, "take blood pressure readings as part of routine examinations. And some Heart Associations throughout the U.S. have undertaken screening programs which include high school students."

Screening members of the community for high blood pressure, high cholesterol and other potential causes of heart disease, Dr. Ross says, is just one of many services provided by the American Heart Association, now conducting its 1974 Heart Fund campaign.

Pack 55 Meeting

To the strains of American Patrol, Den 2 presented the colors and Charles Lomba led the Pledge of Allegiance and the singing of America at Mattapoisett Pack 55 meeting January 24th. Father Raphael delivered the invocation.

Cubmaster Alton McCartney opened the meeting, greeting both parents and boys. Bobcat badges were awarded in a Candlelight Ceremony to Cubs John Hervey, Frank McKeone, Stetson Mendell, William Purtell, Anthony Reynolds, Alan Worden, John Coucci, Michael Harris, Eric Johnson, Charles Lomba and Melvin Trott, after listening to "The Americans" by Sinclair.

The newly appointed District Cub Commissioner, Paul Jones, said a few words to the new Bobcats. He awarded a one-year service pin to Mrs. June Mendell, a Den Chief's Cord to Scout James McPhetridge, and Denner Cords to Cubs William Purtell and Charles Lomba. James Teixeira, newly transferred from New Bedford, was recognized with a Bobcat Pin. Mr. Jones also announced that Mrs. Donna Trott is now the new Pack Commissioner for the town of Mattapoisett.

Following their January theme, Music, on instruments of their own making, Den 2, led by Den Mother Pat Harris, sang "Cub Scout Days". Den 1, led by Den Mother Bea Hervey, sang "Good Night Cub Scouts".

Father Raphael congratulated the new Bobcats on their badges and said how impressed he was with the entire Pack and their meeting.

Refreshments were served to the parents attending by the Cub Scouts; closing out the Janu-24th Pack Meeting of re-organized Pack 55.

SELECTMAN

The time has come when we, the voters of Mattapoisett, must choose a selectman. We must elect a man on the grounds for which he stands, and not his popularity; a man who will work with, and for, the townspeople. In these trying times with all kinds of shortages -- let's not be short on representation for Mattapoisett.

A few points forerunning my campaign for selectman are as follows:

I intend to have open door meetings for the people and the press, and a recorded roll call to publish each Selectman's vote at these meetings.

I plan to have better communication between the Selectmen and the townspeople, by involving businesses, organizations, clubs and other interested citizens in planning for the betterment of our town.

To propose that all promotions in the Police Department be made in a fair way, via an examination. Also, to let the Police Department run without interference from the Board of Selectmen.

Also, I feel that there should be changes in our conservation policies, a better building code, improved public transportation, a stable sewerage plan for the near future, realistic planning in our school situation, town owned industrial park to bring in business for tax revenue, and to use lottery monies to lower property tax; not new expenditures.

To do all we can to bring back home rule to our town, we must stop being dictated to by outsiders who only know Mattapoisett from a distance.

cation" legislation on local school budgets and curriculum.

Extensive changes in existing school programs for "special needs" children will be required by the state when the new statutes - Chapter 766 - go into effect in September, 1974. The new laws specify the "appropriate educational programs" must be provided for all children with special needs between the ages of 3 and 21. At the same time, state residential facilities for such children are being closed, and state tuition payments for Massachusetts children attending residential schools in other states are being discontinued. Children with physical, mental, or emotional disabilities who have in the past been cared for away from home will be returned to their own communities.

Few towns will be able to comply with the requirements of Chapter 766 without establishing new programs in their public schools, and hiring new staff trained in special education. Through co-operative programs with other towns, the impact on local school budgets may be eased without neglecting the educational needs of any children.

The Education Committee of the LWV of the Marion Area believes that Dr. Quinlan's remarks will be of interest to all parents and taxpayers, and urges the public to attend.

Mathis Puts Carson Down . . . And Out

SINGER JOHNNY MATHIS CONVINCES JOHNNY CARSON to quit smoking . . . temporarily, at least. As Mathis puts out Carson's cigarette, the hard-pressed TV star throws his pack in the air. A veteran Heart Association volunteer, Mathis quit smoking because cigarettes were harming his voice and health. When his voice improved, he recorded a Heart anti-smoking ballad, "Without You (Cigarettes)", and became an advocate of smokeless good health.

The New Bedford YWCA Travel Club is planning a theatre party at Chateau DeVille, Randolph, for Thursday, February 21st, to see The King and I. Prospective club members are invited to make inquiry about details of attending at 999-6201. The group will leave the YWCA at 5:30 P.M.

Tai-Chi-Chuan, a coed class emphasizing ancient Chinese physical training for fitness and useful for self-defense, will start Monday, February 25th. Registrations are being received now.

Class hours are 7:00 - 8:00 P.M. and the sessions will continue for 10 weeks. Dr. T. C. Hsia will be the instructor.

A free workshop, "Sewing Bee", for all women interested in making their own clothes and in learning how to make alterations will be held Thursday from 7 to 9 P.M. at the YWCA. The workshop is a preview for the class in sewing that is scheduled to begin February 4 at 7 p.m.

WHAT CAN YOU DO ABOUT
WASTE GONE WILD

Rate yourself as a conservationist. Telephone Pioneers ask, "Are you part of the solution - or part of the pollution?" Ecology is a little like the weather. Everyone talks about it -- but how many of us do anything about it? Over the next several weeks, take a moment for the Telephone Pioneer test to see how much you are doing to improve the environment in your community.

1. Am I saving bottles, cans and newspapers for recycling? YES puts you squarely on the side of saving our natural resources and helping the solid waste problem. (Remember, trash collection is a major tax item.)

2. Do I burn trash or leaves outdoors? NO helps your neighbors breathe cleaner air. In addition, it's against the law in Massachusetts.

3. Am I purchasing more paper toweling, paper plates and other disposable paper goods than last year?

NO proves you really have your eye on reducing solid waste. (Paper counts for 50% of urban trash.)

4. Do I use 'kill everything' combination pesticides in my yard? NO shows you understand pesticides can be highly toxic and select a spray that affects only the specific bug you're after. (Besides, most insects are beneficial.)

How many 'right' answers you got today is less important than realizing that each right answer you add in the future makes our environment much healthier for you, your family and your whole community.

As Telephone Pioneers are saying, YOU can do something about waste gone wild.

STUDDS SUPPORTS CRUDE OIL PRICE ROLLBACK

WASHINGTON, D.C., JANUARY 22 -- Rep. Gerry E. Studds, D-Mass., today co-sponsored a bill to roll back the price of domestic crude oil from already producing wells to the May 15, 1973 level "to make a fresh start on equitable prices for both the consumer and the producer.

"Fuel prices have already escalated beyond the reach of many New Englanders," Studds said on his return to Washington from the holiday recess at home. "The time has come to take human factors as well as profits into consideration."

Studds, who joined Rep. Henry S. Reuss of Wisconsin and six other House members in introducing the measure, charged the Cost of Living Council "with allowing the major oil companies to increase their prices of 'old' oil -- that coming from wells already in production on August 17, 1973 -- by $1.35 per barrel in the last eight months with absolutely no justification whatever.

"This legislation would affect all U. S. oil wells already in operation with oil flowing out of the ground on August 17th of last year," Studds said in a statement released by his Washington office.

"The major oil producers would have to show -- on a case-by-case basis -- increased production costs before any increases in price would be allowed.

"The Cost of Living Council has established a double price system -- regulating 'old'
